Subject: RE: Politis Housing

Dear Meredith:

As you know, Columbia allowed Ms. Politis to remain in housing as an accommodation following your request with your agreement that the accommodation would last for the fall semester. Columbia has received no request from you or your client to extend that accommodation. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

The fall semester ended several weeks ago. As you know, you, David Sanford and I have spoken a number of times since the end of the semester and neither I, my colleagues nor Columbia have communicated to you, David or your client in any manner or taken any action to suggest that the accommodation was ending. Your client has at no time been asked to leave Columbia housing.

Indeed, the University's records show that charges have been added for the spring semester, which would be entirely inconsistent with an expectation of your client vacating the apartment.

Very truly yours,

Robbie

Robbie,

Thanks for your response.

Ms. Politis was informed via an email from Ivonne Rojas on September 25, 2018 that she would be required to vacate at the end of the fall semester if she did not enroll in spring classes. As you are aware, the trauma she has suffered has made it impossible for her to return to the University for classes this semester. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] As a result of these two representations, Ms. Politis understands that she is being forcibly evicted from her student housing.

Thanks,
Meredith

Subject: RE: Politis Housing

Dear Meredith:

While rent charges have certainly been accruing on the Columbia apartment that Ms. Politis has been occupying (her unpaid balance from the fall alone exceeds $8,000), we do not understand why you have stated that Ms. Politis is "being forcibly evicted."

Can you provide some information as to the basis for that accusation? We are not aware of anyone at Columbia taking any action to "evict" Ms. Politis, "forcibly" or otherwise.

If, on the other hand, Ms. Politis has decided that she wishes to voluntarily leave the apartment, her keys may be left with the building's superintendent. We understand that Ms. Politis has not been in contact with him for a while.

Vert truly yours,

Robbie

Subject: Politis Housing

Robbie,

I'm writing to inform you that because Columbia is forcibly evicting Molly Politis from her student housing, she will be vacating her apartment by tomorrow, January 10, 2019. Could you please let me know where she should deposit the keys to the apartment?

Thank you,
Meredith
